 PROGRAMME SUMMARY

Background: Securing land tenure and property rights are fundamental for the realisation of human rights, poverty reduction, food security, peace building, sustainable urban development, economic prosperity and sustainable development. Securing land and property rights is particularly important in order to address gender and youth discrimination. At the same time, developing countries often lack the policies, tools, and capacity to address these challenges. GLTN Phase 2 Programme (2012-2017) is contributing to address these challenges towards securing land and property rights for all, through the recognition of the continuum of land rights approach and development and implementation of pro-poor and gender responsive land tools. Phase 2 Programme maintains a basket funding arrangement where donors collectively contribute to the basket to realize its objective of securing land and property rights for all especially for the poor, women and vulnerable groups.

Goals and Objective: The main objective of the GLTN Phase 2 Programme (2012-2017) is to Improve tenure security of the urban and rural poor through the adoption and implementation of land policies, tools and approaches that are pro-poor, gender appropriate, effective and sustainable.
